

As part of your half term learning, here are some fun activities that you can do to keep yourself busy. You can do them all or a few - have fun learning!

1. Can you listen to Micheal Rosen's "nonsense poem:"
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kt28bVw0xYw>

What do you like about the poem? why? why not? Why not try and create your own "nonsense poem" and practice performing it to your family members. Remember to be as silly as you can!

2. Lots of you may know already that Muslims around the world have just celebrated Eid, which is a special festival that takes place after the month of Ramadhan. Can you design your own Eid card for your family / friends (if you celebrate it). If you don't, why not design an Eid card for someone you know who celebrates: a family friend, a neighbour even your teachers!

3. Let's get physical! It is really important to keep active and fit.
<https://flintobox.com/blog/child-development/exercise-games-kids> This website is filled with ideas for you to do. You can do a different activity each day or pick a few activities for the week.

4. Listen to this shape song:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WTegUejf3D0>

play shape hopscotch. Cut out shapes and put them on the floor. Ask your family member to call out a shape and jump on the shape. See how quickly you can do it. Maybe have a competition with a family member and see who is the quickest!

5. Solve this word problem:

Vidya has 21 pencils. She gives Adrian 5 pencils. How many does she have left?
Polina comes along and gives Vidya 7 more pencils. How many does she have now?
Remember to show your working out.

Daily learning:

Remember to keep practising your Year 1 Common Exception words spellings!

Practise your 2s, 5s, 10s times tables.

Remember to keep practising your phonics sounds. You can find lots of fun phonics games on purple mash!

Read for 10 minutes everyday.

Have a great half term! From the Year 1 team