Sentence starters to help: I predict.... I think.....	Addition using number line, can you write the number sentence, then draw a number line using a ruler and answer the following: $10 + 5 =$  $11 + 2 =$  $6 + 8 =$  $9 + 9 =$  $8 + 10 =$  $5 + 12 =$ 	Science Imagine you are stranded on a desert island. The sun is hitting your face and no boats have been seen for ages. This desert island has nothing on it from your home. It has sun, sea, sand and a bit of shelter, but nothing else. What would you really miss from home if you were stuck on this island for a long time? Write a message in a bottle of a list of things that you would need to survive.....
2	The next part of the story Vashti's teacher took her work and framed it! Her teacher loved her work a lot! Read the story below:	Complete the following addition reasoning questions (use the number line method to help you find the answer): Tom has 24 toy cars. He bought 42 more, how many toy cars does he have altogether?	Geography This week we would like you to research on human and physical features around us.
